We will be designing and delivering a best-in-class product that will deliver progress to our members in centres and will support us with our delivery of Best Education and Best Service. This is a really exciting opportunity to be at the forefront of curriculum design and delivery and create a tool that will allow children to make real progress in maths and English.

The role will be based in Guildford, where you will work in a small team that includes a Project Manager and Data Scientist. You will also work closely with external developers and authors who will support with content creation.

The Role

Your role will include:

- Managing the development of all curriculum content and quality control authored content
- Authoring content
- Close collaboration with the Project Manager, Data Scientist, Developers and Content Authors
- Supporting with the collection of customer sentiment
- Liaising with external partners
- Working with other departments within Explore Learning
- Ensuring the product works for, and improves the offering at Explore Learning
- Having a customer-centric approach

You will:

- Have a strong commitment to the company's educational goals
- Have experience of working within the education sector and have a passion for pedagogy
- Have proven success in driving a time critical project
- Have strong curriculum knowledge
- Have strong verbal and written communication skills

You will demonstrate:

- You have the necessary skills to author content
- Your ability to problem-solve and use initiative
- Strong leadership and line management skills
